5. STANDARDS AND PROCESSES

5.1 Staff training

- 5.1.1 All staff taking part in recruitment and selection within YuGo will be familiar with this policy and how it is applied to recruiting to the organisation.
- 5.1.2 At least one member of staff on an interview panel will have training in Safer Recruitment. While there isn't a set expiry for a safer recruitment certificates, we advise that training should be renewed at least every three years.

5.2 Safe recruitment

These standards will apply to all roles, voluntary and paid, within YuGo:

Advertisement of posts

All posts advertised will contain a safeguarding statement which highlights to candidates the importance placed on a rigorous selection process.

All advertisements for posts will set out the qualifications and experience needed for the role.

All advertisements for posts will set out the competencies and qualities that the applicant should be able to demonstrate.

Applications for posts

All applicants must complete the YuGo application form. Applicants who do not complete the form will not be considered for interview.

Applications from candidates for posts who submit curriculum vitae instead of YuGo application forms will not be considered.

Applicants must submit full personal information, including any former names that they have been known in the past.

Applicants must submit a full history of employment, both paid and voluntary, since leaving school, including any periods of further education or training. This should include start and end dates, along with reasons for leaving, and reasons for any gaps in employment.

inclusion on the DBS Children's or Adult's Barred List or regulatory body restricting or preventing the applicant from working with children or vulnerable adults.

References

All appointments require a minimum of two references, with one being required from the applicant's current or most recent employer or tutor. If the candidate has worked with children or vulnerable groups, a reference must be obtained from the most recent position within that work.

References must be received directly by YuGo and not sent to the candidate's home address first.

References should contain objective, verifiable information and in order to achieve this, a reference pro-forma with questions relating to the candidate's suitability to work with children, young people and vulnerable adults will be provided.

Reference requests should include the length of time the person has known the applicant for and in what capacity; the post held with dates, salary and reasons for leaving; ability and suitability to work with disabled children and vulnerable adults; skills, strengths and weaknesses and how these have been demonstrated; any current disciplinary investigation and/or sanction; any allegations and/or disciplinary investigations relating to the safety or welfare of children or vulnerable adults and the outcome of these, including where any sanction has expired; details of any criminal convictions, cautions or bind-overs; whether the referee would re-employ the applicant and, if not, why not; verification of the identity of the referee.

Open references or testimonials that have not been given in direct relation to the role applied for will not be accepted.

Other Checks Prior to Appointment

If the applicant claims to have specific qualifications or experience relevant to working with children or vulnerable adults which may not be verified by a reference, the facts should be verified by making contact with the relevant body or previous employer with a telephone call prior to appointment.

Shortlisting

The information submitted on the application form will be used to draw up an initial shortlist to ensure that the best candidates are selected fairly. All applicants should be assessed equally against the criteria contained in the job description without exception or variation.

All applications should be checked to ensure that they are fully and properly completed.

All applications should be scrutinised for any anomalies or discrepancies in the information provided.

All applications should be considered with regard to any history of gaps, or repeated changes in employment, without clear and verifiable reasons.

Interviewing

All candidates should be instructed to bring with them documentary evidence of their identity, either a full birth certificate, passport or photo card driving licence and additionally a document such as a utility bill or bank statement that verifies the candidate's name and address. Where appropriate, change of name documentation must also be brought to the interview.

Candidates should also be asked to bring original or certified copies of documents confirming any necessary or relevant educational and professional qualifications. If the successful candidate cannot produce original documents, then written confirmation of their relevant qualifications must be obtained from the awarding body.

Questions should be set which test the candidate's specific skills and abilities to carry out the job applied for.

The candidate's attitude toward children and young people in general should be tested and also their commitment to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of disabled children in particular. At least one member of the interview panel should be trained in how best this can be done.

Any gaps and changes in employment history should be fully explored during the interview, as should any discrepancies arising from information supplied by the candidate or by the referees.

Offers of Employment

Any offer of appointment should be conditional upon pre-employment checks being satisfactorily completed.

All checks should be confirmed in writing and retained on the candidate's personnel file, together with photocopies of documents used to verify their identity and qualifications and the interview notes from each panel member.

Appointment to regulated posts

The following standards will be applied when recruiting to regulated posts

- Regulated posts will be identified as such through cross referencing with the DBS definition of a regulated post
- All job descriptions will state whether a DBS check is required for that post
- All regulated posts will be subject to a DBS check
- A list of key posts will be maintained that require enhanced DBS checks.
- A system of rolling checks on regulated posts will be used to ensure all regulated posts go through the DBS process every three years
- Appointment to regulated posts can be made under certain circumstances prior to receipt of DBS clearance. However, a risk assessment should be conducted which specifies the roles that may be performed by the individual prior to DBS clearance.

Rechecking of current staff

All existing employees who transfer from an unregulated post to a regulated post, will be subject to an enhanced DBS check relating to the specific requirements for the post.

Non-disclosure by current staff of any information that is likely to appear on a DBS check may constitute gross misconduct and result in disciplinary proceedings.

All current employees and volunteers will have their DBS renewed every 3 years.

Positive Disclosures

If a positive disclosure is received for an employee already in post, who is either moving to a regulated position or who has had a DBS check as part of a rolling programme, the individual will be suspended immediately pending investigation.

Failure by new candidates to disclose anything at application stage which subsequently appears as part of a positive disclosure will result in their exclusion from any selection processes for roles for YuGo. Non-disclosure of offences that require disclosure under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 is a criminal offence. Seeking to gain employment working with children or vulnerable adults while on a police barred list is a criminal offence. YuGo will report any applicants who do not disclose relevant offences at the point of application which subsequently appear within a positive disclosure, to the relevant authorities.

Any positive disclosures should be passed to the YuGo Director who will ensure the disclosure is reviewed by a DBS panel comprising the DSL, and the lead director for safeguarding. The panel must ensure that the information obtained relates to the individual concerned.

Any positive disclosures will be reviewed by the panel who will consider the following criteria:

- The seriousness and nature of the offence
- The nature of the role the individual has applied for, or is currently undertaking
- Length of time since the offence occurred
- Number and pattern of offences
- The applicant's age at the time
- Any explanation of the circumstances that may have already been given
- Concealment of offences at application stage

The panel will decide whether the candidate is suitable for employment.

The disclosure should be discussed with the prospective employee. This discussion should cover the seriousness and nature of the offence, the nature of the role applied for, the length of time since the offence occurred, the number and pattern of offences and the applicant's age at the time along with any particular circumstances or explanations for the offence. The panel will make the final decision on appointments where a positive disclosure has been made. Careful notes and record keeping of decision making should be made sure of as part of the panel's activities. Records should not contain details of the offences and may be communicated via e-mail. Any record of judgement will be stored on personnel file.

Record Keeping

YuGo must keep a single, central record collating when and by whom checks on the identity, qualifications and outcomes of DBS checks on staff were made.

Sensitive information disclosed as part of a DBS check must be treated as confidential. The disclosure must be kept in secure conditions and must be destroyed, by secure means, as soon as it is no longer needed. It should not normally be kept more than six months after the decision is taken.

Before the disclosure is destroyed, records need to be kept detailing the date the disclosure was obtained, who obtained it, the level of the disclosure and the unique reference number.

A record should also be kept of the information that was used to assess suitability.

6. APPROVAL

This policy has been approved by the Board of Directors and will be reviewed at least every 3 years.
